THE PERKINS FAMILY IN ENGLAND, 1510-1654.

COMPILED FROM WILLS IN VARIOUS DISTRICT PROBATE REGISTRIES.

THIS series of abstracts of Wills is published with a view to preserving such facts as have been ascertained in relation to the early history of the Perkins family in England.

The genealogical information gathered up is arranged, so far as it can be done, in a comprehensible form and several tabular pedigrees will be given in connection with the wills; and wherever relationship is asserted reference to a few wills will enable the reader to verify or, it may be, to disprove it.

The Lichfield Probate Registry, from which many of the following abstracts were taken, embraced within its jurisdiction several counties in which there were residing numerous families of the names of Parkyns, Perkyns, Perkins, etc., at a very early date. Some of the families were nearly related; some were distantly connected, while others still derived their descent and name from ancestors unknown to us.

This series of Lichfield wills was abstracted by William Deller, Esq., a resident of Lichfield, Staffordshire, who has been employed often, by one of the officials of Heralds' College, London, to make genealogical searches; which fact proves his competency and reliability in performing such work.

The oldest wills recorded in the Lichfield Probate District are to be found in the Episcopal Registers, but they are, as yet, unindexed; however, copies of later ones are preserved and indexed in the Registry where they can still be seen.

With regard to the District Probate Registries and when they were established, Mr. Deller, under date of February 12, 1892, writes as follows:

"I have never met with any reliable information [as to how and when they were first established], but they seem to have become pretty general about 1520."

"My own view is this: that previous to that period wills when proved were handed back to those interested; the church had the jurisdiction and doubtless instituted the practice of 'proof' to ascertain what benefactions were made in her favor; this seems to be borne out by the fact that in the present 'Bishop's Registry' [in Lichfield] there are copies of wills in books registered as early as 1490; there are no indexes to these."

"I am informed, and I believe, in these instances there are bequests to the church."

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

Henry VIII was not such a slave to the church and probably instituted general registration of wills with a reverse object to the former practice.

It is hoped that this series will be supplemented with others so that the connection of American immigrants of the name of Perkins with some known English families may be clearly and indisputably established.

1624 MICHAEL PERKINS of Marston Jabet in the co. War., husbandman.

To the right Honorable Thomas Lord Coventry Lord Keeper of the great Seal of England.

Michael Perkins of Marston Jabet in the co. War., husbandman and Ann his wife one of the daughters of Thomas Lord and Elizabeth his wife, deceased, of Westminster, tayler, and Elizabeth Lord of the city of London, spinster, another of the daughters of the said Thomas Lord and Elizabeth, claim legacies under the Will of Richard Crane late of Bichwell Co. of Leic. yeoman, which Will was made about 20th Jany., 1614 and to which Richard Crane of Attleborough, Co. War., Tayler, is sole executor and William Almey and John Douse overseers.

Richard Crane dies before he has executed the trusts of the Will, intestate, and Henry Garrett of Attleborough takes out Letters of Administration and possesses himself of Richard Crane's estate, about £500.

The Compts. now sue him for their unpaid legacies.

The answer of Henry Garrett.

No such Will was made by Richard Crane. The youngest of the Complainants has attained the age of twenty-one at least ten years ago and by an Act of James the suit may not be delayed more than five years after the cause for it. Richard Crane could not have been possessed of money as Henry Garrett entered into a bond with him to William Wood, gentleman, in the sum of twenty pounds to be paid for at the rate of ten per cent per ann. Richard Crane died about October 1622, and the debt to Mr. Wood is still unpaid.
